Facts about Songkran Festival

Songkran is a Thai traditional New Year that starts on April 13 every year and lasts for 3 days. April 13 is called Maha Songkran Day or the last day of the old year. April 14 is called Wan Nao, which is the transitional day between the old year and the new year. April 15 is called Wan Thaloeng Sok, which is the first day of the New Year. If possible, people from rural areas who are working in the city will return home to celebrate the festival.

Songkran means "move" or "change place", as it is the day when the sun moves from one position to another in the zodiac. It is also called the Water Festival. People believe that water will wash away bad luck, so they will clean their houses and public places like temples.

April 14 is also known as Family Day. Family members usually come together. The young will show their respect to the elders by pouring scented water over the hands of their parents and grandparents. In return, the elders will wish them good health, happiness, and prosperity.
