Mr. Crane Fell in Love

A folktale from Bali, Indonesia, retold by Made Taro and Gede Tarmada

Mr. Crane fell in love with Miss Finch, but he didn't dare to express his feeling to Miss Finch. He proposed Miss Finch through a bird courier named Cetrung. Miss Finch rejected his proposal. However, as Miss Finch didn't want to disappoint Cetrung, Miss Finch accepted the proposal under three conditions.

First, Mr. Crane must cut his legs off; second, Mr. Crane must cut his wings off; and third Mr. Crane must cut his beak off. Cetrung delivered the conditions to Mr. Crane. Because of his strong love for Miss Finch, Mr. Crane agreed to follow Miss Finch's conditions. He cut off his legs; he cut off his wings; and he cut off his beak. Then, Cetrung went to tell Miss Finch that Mr. Crane was ready to get married to Miss Finch. Miss Finch told Cetrung to tell Mr. Crane to come fetch her from her house in a carriage accompanied by musical orchestra. After Cetrung told Mr. Crane, Mr. Crane agreed to go fetch Miss Finch from her house in a carriage accompanied by musical orchestra. Once the carriage arrived, Miss Finch came out and spoke to Mr. Crane. "Mr. Crane, I did not love you when you were a perfect bird. Now you can't stand; you can't fly; and you can't even talk. How can I love you?" So, the story ended sadly for Mr. Crane who was too much in love that he did not think carefully about what he did and about the consequences of his actions.
